Springboard’s ICWP embraces the principles of restorative justice by providing adult men serving intermittent sentences an opportunity to give back to the community through volunteer work as an alternative to spending weekends in jail. This province wide reintegration program is funded by the Ministry of Community Safety & Correctional Services.

58,951 Hours of volunteer work completed by ICWP participants

“It is a great program and we really appreciate the volunteers. They are hard workers and really put forth a great effort.”
– Thrift on Kent
Waterloo, Ontario

884 Men given the opportunity to give back to their community rather than serve their sentence in custody

221 Men received Substance Use Programming for Impaired Drivers

89% Men successfully completed the ICWP

427 Non-profit agencies providing volunteer work opportunities and benefiting from ICWP

$672,041 Estimated value of volunteer work based on Ontario’s minimum wage